KASU AT WORK

Seven weeks after resumption for the first semester of the 2025/2026 session, activities at the university have continued to define and consolidate the strategic vision of management to achieve excellence in the fields of academics, research and innovation. Staff of the Directorate of Corporate Services embarked on an interactive walkaround to capture the sights and interact with stakeholders.

In one of the lecture halls, Dr Farra'u Abubakar of the Faculty of Communication and Media Studies held a session with a remarkably good attendance by students showcasing their seriousness to academic pursuit.

The team shared in the day-to-day experience of the University Library as it witnessed the movement of staff and students in their numbers. Akin to what the heart is to the human body, so is the library to the university community.

Activities around the Library suggested a vibrant university community with both staff and students, taking full advantage of the numerous resources provided by the library. Across the main library and the e-library, in quiet corners and open spaces, students could be seen engaging in various academic related activities. Chatting with the University Librarian, Dr Babangida Dangani, provided interesting insights into student-centred activities within the library. It was evident from our tour that the library serves not just as a place for learning activities but also a place to socialize and recharge for students of the university.

Even with adherents of the two faiths observing their fast, the University campus remains abuzz with activities as the semester progresses. However, most activities peak in the mornings when the fasting friendly weather makes it easier for staff and students to go about their engagements.
